ANNOUNCEMENTS

THANKS MARK AND

WELCOME TO STEVE!! Steve Morales

is joining us as Edison's new daytime custodian this week. Please help him feel welcome. We so appreciate Mark Aguilar's help during this transition as he moved from his usual night shift to day hours to take care of us all.

NOROVIRUS UPDATE – The battle to rid our campus of Norovirus continues! While the number of cases is declining, we have continued to have new cases nearly every day last week and our weekly rate of absences due to these sorts of digestive upsets is over twice what it has been in other years. Please continue to report all absences to Kathy Fagnoli (ext. 61-348) and keep children home for 48 hours after their last symptoms. Please do not come to campus yourself if you have had symptoms in the last 48 hours – or bring younger children who are symptomatic. If children are sent home with nausea or stomach aches but do not develop vomiting or diarrhea or fever, they may return to school the next day. Many campus special events have been postponed and other events are going forward only with health screening and disinfecting. Thank you for your cooperation!

FROM THE PRINCIPAL'S DESK: DEVELOPING COLLEGE AND CAREER READY WRITING SKILLS

I want to share a little this week about the sustained work we've been doing at Edison on improving teaching and learning in writing. We've studied together, invested resources in curriculum materials, organized ourselves into grade level Professional Learning Communities (PLCs), and kept a sustained focus on writing over several years. This investment of time and resources has really deepened our practice and we're starting to see some exciting results.

Curriculum standards in elementary school are designed to help students be college and career ready by the end of high school. While that may seem like a long time in the future, our job in elementary school is to build the foundation that supports more complex skills students are asked to master with each grade. Careful foundational work is particularly important in the teaching of writing. Step by step, and skill by skill, elementary school teachers teach the writing process and the craft of writing in different genres. And in dual immersion programs, we provide that instruction and practice in both languages!

Our writing instruction is based on the standards to make sure that expectations and instruction are clear and consistent – from classroom to classroom and from grade level to grade level. We teach the writing process – planning, drafting, conferring with writing partners and teachers, and revising – and have students use this process to write on a regular basis in all the subjects they study. The standards place more emphasis than in the past on non-fiction genres and call for the teaching of narratives, information and opinion pieces -- with increased attention to argumentative essays. By the time they leave elementary school, students must be able to read several pieces of information on a topic, analyze them using text-based evidence to state the argument and counter arguments, take a position and create a well-organized essay of at least five paragraphs using correct mechanics, descriptive vocabulary, and showing author's voice. That's a tall order – even if you were only doing it in one language!

While we purchased Writers Workshop Units of Study for all teachers and increased the amount of time we spend teaching writing, a lot of the changes have come from our six grade level Professional Learning Communities (PLCs). When teachers meet as a PLC, they focus on four questions: 1) What do we want students to learn; 2) How will we know when they've learned it; 3) What will we do if they don't? and 4) What will we do when they're ready for more? Our writing PLCs meet regularly to plan lessons, design assessments, look at student work and then refine lessons again. And at the end of a unit, they meet together to score student work so that standards are the same across all classrooms. Grade level PLC leaders meet together monthly as a leadership group to share strategies and progress and look at how writing instruction builds from grade to grade. It's an investment that is resulting in some amazing writing instruction and increased student outcomes! I'm so proud of our faculty and students as they continue to press for excellence in writing!

ANUNCIOS

¡GRACIAS A MARK Y BIENVENIDO STEVE!
STEVE MORALES Se une a nosotros como el nuevo conserje del día esta semana. Por favor ayúdenle a sentirse bienvenido. También apreciamos la ayuda de Mark Aguilar durante esta transición porque se cambió de su horario regular de la noche a las horas del día para encargarse de todos nosotros.

INFORMES DEL NOROVIRUS - ¡La batalla para eliminar el Norovirus de nuestra escuela continua! Aunque las cantidades de casos se está reduciendo, hemos continuado teniendo casos nuevos casi todos los días la semana pasada y nuestra cantidad de ausencias por estos tipos de molestias digestivas es casi lo doble de lo que ha sido en años pasados. Por favor continúen reportando todas las ausencias a Kathy Fagnoli (extensión 61-348) y dejen a los niños en casa por 48 horas después de los últimos síntomas. Por favor no vengan ustedes si ustedes han tenido síntomas en las últimas 48 horas – ni tampoco traigan a niños menores quienes tienen síntomas. Si los niños se mandan al hogar con nausea o dolor de estómago pero no desarrollan vomito o diarrea o fiebre, pueden regresar a la escuela al siguiente día. Muchos eventos especiales de la escuela han sido pospuestos y otros eventos siguen adelante solamente con asesoramientos de salud y desinfectando. ¡Gracias por su apoyo!

DEL ESCRITORIO DE LA DIRECTORA: HABILIDADES DE ESCRITURA EN PREPARACIÓN PARA LA UNIVERSIDAD

Quiero compartir un poco esta semana sobre el trabajo sostenido que hemos hecho en Edison para mejorar la enseñanza y aprendizaje en escritura. Hemos estudiado juntos, invertimos en recursos en materiales para el curso de estudios, nos organizamos en Comunidades Profesionales de Aprendizaje (PLCs) por niveles de grado, y mantuvimos un enfoque sostenido en escritura durante varios años. La inversión de tiempo y recurso ha profundizado nuestra práctica y estamos comenzando a ver resultados emocionantes.

Las normas del curso de estudios en escuela primarias son diseñadas para ayudar a estudiantes a estar listos para la universidad y carrera para el fin de la preparatoria. Aunque parezca un tiempo lejano en el futuro, nuestro trabajo en las escuelas primarias es crear la fundación que apoya las habilidades más complejas que se les piden a los estudiantes que dominen con cada grado. Trabajo cuidadoso de fundación es particularmente importante en la enseñanza de escritura. Paso a paso, habilidad por habilidad, los maestros de escuelas primarias enseñan el proceso de escritura y la artesanía de escribir en diferentes géneros. ¡Y en programas de doble inmersión, proveemos instrucción y práctica en ambos idiomas!

Nuestra instrucción de escritura es basada en las normas para asegurar que las expectativas e instrucción sean claras y consistentes – de salón a salón y de nivel de grado a nivel de grado. Enseñamos el proceso de escritura – planear, diseñar, conferir con compañeros de escritura y maestros, y revisar – y hacer que los estudiantes usen este proceso para escribir a diario en todas las materias que estudien. Las normas ponen más énfasis que en el pasado en géneros de no ficción y requieren la enseñanza de narrativos, información y piezas de opinión – con atención aumentada en ensayos argumentativos. Para el tiempo que salen de la escuela primaria, los estudiantes deben tener la habilidad de leer varias piezas de información sobre un tema, analizarlos usando evidencia basada en texto para presentar el argumento y contradecir los argumentos, tomar una posición y crear un ensayo bien organizado de por lo menos cinco párrafos usando mecánicas correctas, vocabulario descriptivo, y mostrando la voz del autor. ¡Esa es una gran orden – aunque lo estuvieran haciendo solamente en un idioma!

Mientras compramos Unidades de Estudio de Taller de Escritores para todos los maestros y aumentamos el tiempo que pasamos enseñando escritura, muchos de los cambios han venido de nuestras seis Comunidades de Aprendizaje Profesional (PLCs). Cuando los maestros de reúnen como PLC, se enfocan en cuatro preguntas: 1) ¿Qué queremos que aprendan los estudiantes?; 2) ¿Cómo sabremos si aprendieron lo que queríamos que aprendieran?; 3) ¿Qué haremos si no lo aprendieron?; y 4) ¿Qué haremos cuando estén listos para más? Nuestros PLCs se reúnen regularmente para planear lecciones, diseñar asesoramientos, mirar trabajo estudiantil y después refinar las lecciones de nuevo. Y al final de una unidad, se reúnen para calificar el trabajo de los estudiantes para que las normas sean iguales a través de todos los salones. Líderes de PLC de niveles de grados se reúnen mensualmente como grupo de liderazgo para compartir estrategias y progreso y mirar cómo la instrucción de escritura se construye de grado a grado. ¡Es una inversión que está resultando en escritura sorprendente y resultados estudiantiles mejorados! ¡Estoy muy orgullosa de nuestro personal y estudiantes porque continúan luchando por excelencia en escritura!
